Dear Bryan J Anderson:

The course you completed was designed to provide the training specified in the NAIC's amended Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act. The amended Act requires that in order to sell, solicit, or negotiate long-term care insurance, a licensed producer must complete a onetime, 8-hour training course, which may or may not be approved as a continuing education course in all states. Satisfying this training requirement in any one state may be deemed to satisfy the training requirement in any other state. In addition, insurers subject to the Act must obtain and maintain verification that producers who sell, solicit, or negotiate long-term care insurance products and/or long-term care partnership policies on their behalf have received this initial training.

For these reasons, WebCE® is providing you with the following "Long Term Care Partnership Training Acknowledgment." This acknowledgement is evidence of your successful completion of WebCE's course that was designed to meet this initial 8-hour training requirement.

This acknowledgment may be used in the following ways to show you have successfully completed a Long Term Care Partnership course which was designed to provide NAIC's initial 8-hour training requirement.

- If a state in which you are licensed has adopted the NAIC's amended Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act or has otherwise implemented a long-term care training requirement and will accept evidence of training completed in another state. Official state continuing education certificate of completion may also be used in some cases.
- If you represent a company that must verify its producers have received such training.

Sincerely,
WebCE Customer Service
